Chapter 1: «The Discovery»

Sparky the dog was out for a stroll,
When he stumbled upon a hidden goal,
A gate that was old and covered in vines,
With a lock that was rusted and couldn't shine.

But Sparky was curious and full of pluck,
So he pushed his way through the overgrown muck,
And to his surprise, he found a secret place,
A garden of wonders full of beauty and grace.

The flowers were bright and the fountains did flow,
A magical world that Sparky did know,
He wagged his tail and barked with glee,
For this garden was where he wanted to be.

So Sparky explored the garden with delight,
With every step, his heart took flight,
For he knew he had found something rare,
A secret garden beyond compare.

Chapter 2: «The Entrance»

With a wag of his tail and a bark of joy,
Sparky entered the garden, a curious little boy.
He pushed through the bushes, the vines and the thorns,
And finally emerged, where beauty was born.

The garden was stunning, with colors galore,
A magical place that Sparky adored.
He sniffed at the flowers, he licked at the dew,
This was his playground, a dream come true.

The fountains were flowing, with water so clear,
Sparky jumped and splashed without any fear.
He ran through the fields, he leaped over the stones,
This was his paradise, a place he called home.

The sun was shining, the breeze was so light,
Sparky explored with all of his might.
He knew in his heart that he had found,
